Website -www.theartofpeace.com

Computer programmer, Writer & Author, Audio Engineer, College Student.

Hello, everyone. My name is David. I am an Author & Writer, Level Designer, Modder, Musician, and Videographer.

I am hoping to one day work as a Junior Developer and eventually land a Lead Design position. But for now, I am content working with SQL and developing my coding knowledge as a freelance writer.

I often stream online via Twitch.com and my mods have reached over 200k viewers with up to 20k downloads. I also love to teach others how to work in level design. My tags: #laghettogaming #aop

Computer & Tech skills:

I am generally a Level Designer with an interest in working with game engines. I don't mind coding, making animations, original 3d models...I just prefer working more with the actual building-- levels, dungeons, cells. And no, It's not the same as "designing levels" like a graphic designer. Confusing? yeah I know....

I started modifying games back when Advance Map was a thing for the Nintendo gba emulation. Back then I realized I really love working editors and programs to make cells and change layouts. Since then I have moved onto 3D modification using Bethesda Studio's Creation Engine. Now, I am learning more about coding and html applicability as well as different engines like Unity and Unreal.

Tools

*Xedit, nifskope, blender, Creation Engine, basic python and C#.
Currently learning html and SQL.*

English, Poetry & Critical Writing:

I received my GED in high school and continued my education at Fullerton College from 2011-2013 where I studied advance critical thinking, grammatical essays and English argumentative theses using business MLA format.

Writing has never been an issue with me. In fact, I love it. However, I will never learn to ever love writing long and pointless essays about simple things. Mostly papers that I could explain briefly but have to exaggerate for ten pages.

In 2013 I actually went through a younger “midlife” crisis because of the amount of pointless essays I had to write according to prompts and lacking anything creative. That’s college for you.

I have gone through some heavy financial setbacks since then, but I have decided to finish my AA degree and focus more on Computer Science with a minor in English.

Writing Experience

I self published four books of poetry while I was still in high school. From 2010 to 2015 I continued to published over 14 collections of poetry with around 28 in total awaiting publication. In 2019, I removed all those books online in order to focus solely on fewer, more professional books.

You can read my new updated catalogue on my website, my latest book released Jan 9th 2023, The Poetics I.

Audio Engineering

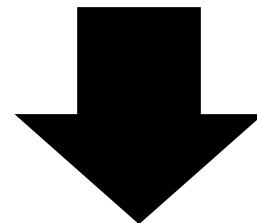

Alongside computers, In 2015 I also began focusing on music. I currently have experience with audio engineering such as working with DAWs(digital audio workstations) like FL Studio and other various third party plugins and programs to mix and master audio. This work consists of knowing audio levels, compression, EQ, reverb, music theory and even instrumental talent.

I have finished around 12 mixtapes and 3 albums. My latest album is updated on bandcamp.com

Videography & Editing

Ontop of my musical knowledge, I also spend time working with filming, editing video quality and all that consists of recording, editing and the publishing process. My choice of editors is always going to be Adobe Premier Pro.

Conclusion

Thank you to everyone for reading this work-related portfolio. If you're wondering where my past work history is, please don't bother. I was in high school, I went to college, and I stayed working labor jobs in warehouses. I learned all these skills on my own. Now I am applying for jobs that require more than just unloading trailers. So instead, please consider my sources below.
